BOOK SYNOPSIS

The clothes don't make the bunny in this new picture book from New York Times-bestselling author Deborah Underwood, illustrated by T. L. McBeth.

When Ogilvy moves to a new town, the possibilities feel endless. There are so many new bunny friends and fun things to do together! But in this town, bunnies in dresses play ball and knit socks, and bunnies in sweaters make art and climb rocks. Ogilvy wants to do everything—and won't let a sweater or a dress get in the way.

REVIEWS AND PRAISE

"Clothes do not make the bunny. It's a strong message told subtly." —Kirkus Reviews, starred review

"A comedic take on irrational differentiations." —The Bulletin for the Center of Children's Books

"Illustrations 'made with graphite pencils, Adobe Photoshop, and sweaters,' whose bold lines and loose shadows give a classic feel to this fable with a modern message." —The Horn Book

"An excellent entry point to conversations about celebrating individuality and personal choice." —Publishers Weekly

"This clever rhyming book reads like a modern-day and inclusive Seuss story." —Youth Services Book Review

"Takeaway: A single voice matters." —San Francisco Chronicle

A NOTE ON AGE RANGES

A publisher-suggested age range covers the gamut of readers that publishers envision using the book, whether for independent reading, family sharing, group study, or in other ways. Educators have the best sense of the appropriate age range for the diverse learners they work with and understand these ranges vary depending on a book's intended use.
